29 Rescue Squad Members Complete E M T Course

Rescue Squad work is really a lot of work combined with a great deal of satisfaction ... but all work and no play makes for a dull day. For the twenty-nine squadsmen and women from Appomattox County Rescue Squad, Concord Rescue Squad and Gladstone Rescue Squad, Wednesday night, June 7th was a celebration night for the 29 members completing the 71 hour Emergency Medical Technician Course they begun in December of 1971, when they got together at Maude's for a dinner. Guests for the evening included Dr. and Mrs. Al Fratrick, husbands and wives of the members.

The four men in the picture above have good reason for the happy smiles ... as the 71 hour E M T Courses taken by area Rescue Squads has been completed. From left to right are Dr. A. A. Fratrick, medical advisor for the Course, Lonnie Reynolds, representing the Gladstone Rescue Squad, Ray Noble, representing the Appomattox County rescue Squad and Reggie Spradlin, representing the Concord Rescue Squad.

Twenty-nine members of local rescue squads have completed the Emergency Medical Services Training Course that was set up by the Virginia State Department of Health.

The Course, which was begun in Decemberof 1971, required 71 hours of text and practical training in advanced medical attention for rescue-transport personnel.

Rescue Squads throughout Virginia have been participating in this program. The objective of the course was to develope or upgrade the skill levels of all individuals involved in providing emergency medical care services.

The course encompassed the knowledge and skill required to perform all emergency care procedure short of those rendered by a physician or by paramedical personnel under the direct supervision of a physician. THE E M T's are not DOCTORS!

Eighteen members of the Appomattox County Rescue Squad to complete the course were Richard Bartelt, Grover Beasley, Jr., Nina Beasley, Perry Davis, Paul O. Doss, Beck Hodnett, Ray Noble, Kelly O'Brien, Nellie Paulette, James Rogers, Abner Scruggs, Andy Scruggs, Bill Sperry, Gordon Staples, Jack Williams, A. A. Summer School Program Is Scheduled

Appomattox County is again providing pre-school experience to its incoming first year students through a Title I project. The summer program is primarily one of orientation and is open to all children in the county who will be first year students in September.

This is scheduled to operate for five weeks at the Appomattox Primary School, beginning on June 19 and continuing through July 21. The hours will be 8:30 a.m. until 1 p.m.

The summer staff will be composed of seven teachers and eight teacher aides. An enrollment of 135 is expected. The number of students working in any one group will be less than that of the regular session, thus allowing a better pupil-teacher ratio than is possible during the regular session.

The pre-school program is designed so as to enable the beginning student to have a more successful entry into school. Experiences will be provided which will stimulate learning, self confidence, and adequacy. Field trips and a parent visitation day will be included.

A lunch will be provided each day and busses will pick up and return students to their homes.

Survey Results Presented To Board Of Supervisors

Read Survey Results

Title I Budget Approved 150 Enrolled For Summer School

The Appomattox County School Board, at their meeting held Tuesday evening, June 6, approved the Title I proposed budget that will commence this fall for the 1972-73 school year. Title I includes the procurement and salaries of twenty-three teachers aides, a reading consultant and instructional supplies.

The Board voted to accept budget of $80,00 which is slightly lower than last year, but, expenditures usually are within the realm of eighty to eighty-five thousand per year.

After accepting the Title I program, the board approved the following personnel appointments: Fannie Pannell Walton, who filled a vacancy at midterm this year, was appointed to teach sixth grade at the Appomattox Intermediate School. Jacqueline Robinson was accepted by the board as a school nurse and will be placed at the county high school in the fall. Teacher aides, who are already school personnel, approved were Virginia H. Bondurant, Betty S. Booker, Anne B. Coffey, Mary Sue Moore, Julina George, Maraget Harvey,, Frances P. Lewis, Rosalie Mitchell, Harriet S. Readding, Sudie E. Rowe, Virginia Stratton Betty K. Connor, Sandra Mitchell, Barbara G. Radcliff, Betty Rhodenizer. Audry L. Lenon, Yvonne D. Franklin, Glenna Hix, Catherine E. Jackson, Frances S. Murray, Brenda Louise Walker, Joette Torrence and Merlie Lawson.

Eugene Peyton, director of education , announced that 150 children were enrolled in the Summer School Readiness Program. There is a potential of 200 children the program is available to, however, Mr. Peyton added, with those in a kindergarten program the percentage rises to 90 percent that will have had a readiness program by the time the fall term begins.

Board member Lyle Garrett stated that this total should be

Road Requests Are Received

Floyd Williams, president of the Appomattox County Jaycees, presented to the Appomattox County Board of Supervisors the results of a recent survey taken throughout the county. This survey covered matters of interest to all the citizens concerning the county schools, governing bodies, utilities and other facilities within its limits.

At the board meeting held Friday, June 9, Williams reported that the survey had been distributed to 2,955 men, women and children in all three districts of the county.

Although members delivered and picked up the questionaires, only 50 percent of the persons involved responded. The response was equal in all three districts.

Williams stated that the national average in surveys is 20 percent and felt the local survey had been pretty successful.

Supervisor, John Cole, said it was a "shame" more didn't answer. "Those that didn't answer, throwing the survey away without filling it out may have been among the best judges," he added.

The supervisors asked in what age category did the Jaycees feel they had the best response and the least response. Williams replied that those between 25 and 50 years of age responded the most and the eld-

Court Street Plans Approved

The location and design plans for a construction project which will improve 0.6 of a mile of Court Street (Va. 131) in Appomattox were approved Thursday, June 8, by the State Highway Commission.

The improvement project will start where Court Street intersects with US 460 (Confederate Boulevard) on the north and to the intersection with Main Street, just north of the Norfolk and Western Railway tracks.

The existing street, which is 18 feet wide, will be widened to 36 feet with curb and gutter and five foot sidewalks over most of the project on a 53 foot right-of-way plus construction easements. The exception to this is between Moses Street and Confederate Boulevard where a walk will be constructed on the west side and a sidewalk space will be designated on the east side.

At a public hearing in April, a citizen who owns property on Moses Street voiced concern over the proposed sidewalk space encroaching on his property. The construction easement for the proposed sidewalk space would have taken part of his parking lot.

Department of Highways engineers made further studies and determined that initial construction can be extended to the right-of-way without obtaining a construction easement until the town of Appomattox undertakes a sidewalk project. This will avoid disturbing any of the parking lot during the Court Street project except a small corner which will be involved in providing a radius for the Moses Street connection to Court Street.

Existing sidewalks and pavement will be utilized wherever feasible throughout the project length.

The present traffic volume over this segment of Court Street is 2,500 vehicles a day; the projected 1991 traffic vlume is 3,750 vehicles a day.

The project, which is estimated to cost $191,000, will be constructed by state forces with work tentatively scheduled to start in the spring of 1973.

Jaycee Awards Night Honors Members & Community Leaders

The annual awards banquet of Appomattox Jaycees was held Wednesday evening, June 7, at Parkway with James A. Smith, extension agent as speaker. Mr. Smith asked the Jaycees several question about their county and community and talked about the possibilities of industrial growth and the reasons for it. He said, in particular, that a new industry or industries in Appomattox would provide employment opportunities for young people and would broaden the tax base so that the major burden of providing schools and other services to the county would be shared both by home owners and property owners, through existing real estate taxes, and also by existing industries and utilities and any new industries which seek to come here.

Among those honored were Line Coach George Blanton, Appomattox County High School, and Mrs. Blanton. Coach Blanton, who is head track coach, as well, was given a plaque naming him 'Educator to the Year.'

Sammy Martin and Mrs. Martin were honored with a citation naming him 'Outstanding Young Farmer.' Investigator Herbert Chambers, unable to be present was named 'Outstanding Young Police Officer.'
